The review should take into account the changes in business and operating environment, material changes in systems, business activity or volume of transactions, quality of control environment, effectiveness of risk management or mitigation strategies, loss experience, and the frequency, volume or nature of breaches in limits or any policy.

Moreover, the board shall ensure that employees and officers in all areas of operations have a high degree of integrity.

For this purpose, the board shall approve appropriate hiring and selection policies and processes, adopt a continuing professional development program, and institutionalize a framework for continuing assessment of fitness and propriety of employees. These policies, processes and programs should reinforce the conduct and values being promoted in the organization.

Further, the board shall oversee the design and implementation of remuneration policies. It shall ensure that the remuneration policies do not encourage excessive risk-taking or provide incentives to people to perform contrary to the desired risk management values. It shall also ensure that remuneration policies are appropriate and aligned with the bank's long-term strategic direction and risk appetite, as well as with relevant legal or regulatory requirements;

- g. Ensure that all units in the organization have adequate resources, including personnel complement, and are supported by appropriate technological systems. The use of technological systems must be commensurate with the activities being undertaken; and

This shall be done through the Bank's Human Resources Group, which shall include:<sup>9</sup>
  - (1) Adoption of a risk focused screening process - by the Management through the development of a risk-focused approach for the pre-employment background checking, employing an appropriate level of screening based on factors like the position, reputation risk implication, and responsibilities associated with a particular position. The sensitivity of the position and authorities give to the certain positions, including those in the branches, or the access level of individual employee may warrant additional background screening procedures, such as but not limited to: verification of character references, criminal records, psychological evaluation, past employment, credentials, and professional qualifications. The Board shall likewise establish effective mechanism that leverages on existing controls or reports to facilitate assessment of continuing fitness and propriety of personnel, taking into account factors that may affect the performance of an individual. For instance, the financial circumstances of an employee who will be responsible for the custody of, or handling cash related transactions, shall be taken into consideration in the evaluation of his continuing qualification. This mechanism shall enable the BSFI to detect suspicious behaviors of personnel such as reluctance or refusal to take vacation leaves; involvement of personnel in cases with frequent overrides of internal controls, established limits or approving authorities, and high incidence of circumventions of policy; changes in employees' conduct; unusual activities in operations; and sudden or significant changes in

A clear mechanism for coordination and collaboration shall be established between and among these relevant functions to strengthen the BSFI's operational resilience.
  - c. The operational resilience framework shall clearly communicate and promote understanding of the relevant internal and external parties roles and responsibilities with respect to the overall operational resilience approach and objectives.

5. The board of directors shall oversee the three lines of defense for operational resilience and ensure that these functions are operating as intended:
  - a. The first line is responsible for ensuring that all the resources needed in the end-to-end delivery of critical operations are identified. This should include those provided by a third-party and in certain cases those that are sourced by the third-party from other service providers. The first line also ensures that risk exposures are aligned with the established tolerance for disruption for each critical operation. The first line shall ensure that material operational resilience-related information (e.g. loss events, incidents, et.al) are adequately and timely escalated to senior management/board of directors and communicated to the relevant independent control functions.
  - b. The second line is expected to assess the end-to-end activities of critical operations and their extent of exposure to operational disruptions. It should conduct periodic review to ensure that internal controls are in place for critical operations and continue to adapt to the changing environment. It should also ensure that risk exposures of the resources for critical operations are well managed to allow critical operations to remain within the tolerance for disruption.

The third line assesses the design and ongoing effectiveness of the BSFI's operational resilience efforts. It should challenge the first and second lines on the appropriateness of the resources for critical operations to operate within the tolerance for disruption.

vi. DIRECTORS

a. Specific duties and responsibilities of a director

The position of a director is a position of trust. A director assumes certain responsibilities to different constituencies or stakeholders i.e. the bank itself, its stockholders, its depositors and other creditors, its management and employees, the regulators, deposit insurer and the public at large. These constituencies or stakeholders have the right to expect that the institution is being run in a prudent and sound manner. The members of the board of directors should exercise their "duty of care" and "duty of loyalty" to the institution.

- (1) Remain fit and proper for the position for the duration of his term. A director is expected to remain fit and proper for the position for the duration of his term. He should possess unquestionable credibility to make decisions objectively and resist undue influence. He shall treat board directorship as a profession and shall have a clear understanding of his duties and responsibilities as well as his role in promoting good governance. Hence, he shall maintain his professional integrity and continuously seek to enhance his skills, knowledge and understanding of the activities that the bank is engaged in or intends to pursue as well as the developments in the banking industry including regulatory changes through continuing education or training.
- (2) Conducts fair business transactions with the bank and to ensure that personal interest does not bias board decisions. Directors should, whenever possible, avoid situations that would give rise to a conflict of interest. If transactions with the institution cannot be avoided, it should be done in the regular course of business and upon terms not less favorable to the institution than those offered to others. The basic principle to be observed is that a director should not use his position to make profit or to acquire benefit or advantage for himself and/or his related interests. He should avoid situations that would compromise his impartiality.
- (3) Act honestly and in good faith, with loyalty and in the best interest of the Bank, its stockholders, regardless of the amount of their stockholdings, and other stakeholders such as its depositors, investors, borrowers, other clients and the general public. A director must always act in good faith, with the care that an ordinary prudent man would exercise under similar circumstances. While a director should always strive to promote the interest of all stockholders, he should also give due regard to the rights and interest of other stakeholders.

In Board and Committee meetings, the director shall review meeting materials and if called for, ask the necessary questions or seek clarifications and explanations.

A director's commitment to the Bank is evident in the amount of time he dedicates to performing his duties and responsibilities which includes his presence in all meetings of the Board, Committees and shareholders. In this way, the director is able to effectively perform his/her duty to the Bank and its shareholders.

The absence of a director in more than fifty percent (50%) of all regular and special meetings of the Board during his/her incumbency is a ground for disqualification in the succeeding election unless the absence is due to illness, death in the immediate family, serious accident or other unforeseen or fortuitous events.

- (b) The non-executive directors of the Board shall concurrently serve as directors to a maximum of five publicly listed companies to ensure that they have sufficient time to fully prepare for meetings, challenge Management's proposals/views, and oversee the long-term strategy of the Bank.

NEDs shall to scrutinize Management's performance, particularly in meeting the companies' goals and objectives. Further, they shall satisfy themselves on the integrity of the bank's internal control and effectiveness of the risk management systems. This role can be better performed by the NEDs if they are provided access to the external auditor and heads of the internal audit, compliance and risk functions, as well as to other key officers of the Bank without any executive directors present. The lead independent director should lead and preside over the meeting.

- (c) A Bank's Director shall notify the Board before accepting a directorship in another company.

- (5) Act judiciously. Before deciding on any matter brought before the board of directors, every director should thoroughly evaluate the issues, ask questions and seek clarifications when necessary.
- (6) Contributes significantly to the decision-making process of the board. Directors should actively participate and exercise objective independent judgment on corporate affairs requiring the decision or approval of the Board.
- (7) Exercises independent judgment. A director should view each problem/situation objectively. When a disagreement with others occurs, he should carefully evaluate the situation and state his position. He should not be afraid to take a position even though it might be unpopular. Corollary to this, he should support plans and ideas that he thinks will be beneficial to the Bank.
- (8) Possess a working knowledge of the statutory and regulatory requirements affecting the Bank, including the content of its articles of incorporation and by-laws, the requirements of the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, and where applicable, the requirements of other regulatory agencies. A Director should also keep himself informed of the industry developments and business trends in order to safeguard the Bank's competitiveness.

1. RESPECTING RIGHTS OF STAKEHOLDERS AND EFFECTIVE REDRESS FOR VIOLATION OF STAKEHOLDER'S RIGHTS.

The rights of stakeholders established by law, by contractual relations and through voluntary commitments must be respected. Where stakeholders' rights and/or interests are at stake, stakeholders should have the opportunity to obtain prompt effective redress for the violation of their rights. For this purpose, the Board of Directors shall:

- a. Identify the Bank's various stakeholders and promote cooperation between them and the Bank in creating wealth, growth and sustainability.

Stakeholders in corporate governance include, but are not limited to customers, employees, suppliers, shareholders, investors, creditors, the community the Bank operates in society, the government, regulators, competitors, external auditors, etc. In formulating the Bank's strategic and operational decisions affecting its wealth, growth and sustainability due consideration is given to those who have an interest in the Bank and are directly affected by its operations.

- b. The Board should establish clear policies and programs to provide a mechanism on the fair treatment and protection of stakeholders.

In instances when stakeholders' interests are not legislated, companies' voluntary commitments ensure the protection of the stakeholders' rights. The Bank's Code of Conduct ideally includes provisions on the Bank's policies and procedures on dealing with various stakeholders. The Bank's stakeholders include its customers resource providers, creditors and the community in which it operates. Fair, professional and objective dealings as well as clear, timely and regular communication with the various stakeholders ensure their fair treatment and better protection of their rights.

- c. The Board shall adopt a transparent framework and process that allow stakeholders to communicate with the Bank and to obtain redress for the violation of their rights.

A mechanism for employee participation shall be developed to create a symbiotic environment, realize the Bank's goals and participate in its corporate governance processes.

The establishment of policies and programs covering among others, the following: (1) health, safety and welfare; (2) training and development; and (3) reward/compensation for employees, encourages employees to perform better and motivates them to take a more dynamic role in the Bank. Active participation is further fostered when the Bank recognizes the firm-specific skills of its employees and their potential contribution in corporate governance. The employees' viewpoint in certain key decisions may also be considered in governance processes through work councils or employee representation in the board.

- b. The Board shall set the tone and make a stand against corrupt practices by adopting an anti-corruption policy and program in its Code of Conduct. Further, the Board should disseminate the policy and program to employees across the organization through trainings to embed them in the Bank's culture.

The adoption of an anti-corruption policy and program endeavors to mitigate corrupt practices such as, but not limited to, bribery, fraud, extortion, collusion, conflict of interest and money laundering. This encourages employees to report corrupt practices and outlines procedures on how to combat, resist and stop these corrupt practices. Anti-corruption programs are more effective when the Board sets the tone and leads the Bank in their execution.

The Bank's value chain consists of inputs to the production process, the production process itself and the resulting output. Sustainable development means that the Bank not only complies with existing regulations, but also voluntarily employs value chain processes that take into consideration economic, environmental, social and governance issues and concerns. In considering sustainability concerns, the Bank plays an indispensable role alongside the government and civil society in contributing solutions to complex global challenges like poverty, inequality, unemployment and climate change.

K. DISCLOSURE AND TRANSPARENCY

The Bank shall establish corporate disclosure policies and procedures that are practical and in accordance with best practices and regulatory expectations.

1. The Board shall establish corporate disclosure policies and procedures to ensure a comprehensive, accurate, reliable and timely report to shareholders and other stakeholders that give a fair and complete picture of a bank's financial condition, results and business operations.

Setting up clear policies and procedures on corporate disclosure that comply with the disclosure requirement as provided in Rule 68 of the Securities Regulation Code (SRC), Philippine Stock Exchange Listing and Disclosure Rules and other regulations such as those required by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, is essential for comprehensive and timely reporting.

2. The Bank shall have a policy requiring all directors and officers to disclose/report to the Bank any dealings in the Bank's shares within three (3) business days.

Directors often have access to material inside information on the Bank. Hence, to reduce the risk that the directors might take advantage of this information, it is crucial for companies to have a policy requiring directors to timely disclose to the Bank any dealings with the Bank shares. It is crucial for companies to have a policy requiring directors to timely disclose to the company any dealings with the company shares. It is emphasized that the policy is on internal disclosure to the Bank of any dealings by the director in company shares. This supplements the requirement of Rules 18 and 23 of the Securities Regulation Code.

3. The Board shall fully disclose all relevant and material information on individual board members and key executives to evaluate their experience and qualifications, and assess any potential conflicts of interest that might affect their judgment.

A disclosure on the board members and key executives' information is prescribed under Rule 12 Annex C of the SRC. Also, companies should disclose the remuneration on an individual basis, including termination and retirement provisions.

Disclosure of remuneration policies and procedure enables investors to understand the link between the remuneration paid to directors and key management personnel and the Bank's performance.

The Revised Code of Corporate Governance requires only a disclosure of all fixed and variable compensation that may be paid, directly or indirectly, to its directors and top four (4) management officers during the preceding fiscal year. However, disclosure on board and executive remuneration on an individual basis (including termination and retirement provisions) is increasingly regarded as good practice and is now mandated in many countries.

5. The Bank shall make a full, fair, accurate and timely disclosure to the public of every material fact or event that occurs, particularly on the acquisition or disposal of significant assets, which could adversely affect the viability or the interest of its shareholders and other stakeholders. Moreover, the Board of the offeree bank shall appoint an independent party to evaluate the fairness of the transaction price on the acquisition or disposal of assets.

The disclosure on the acquisition or disposal of significant assets includes, among others, the rationale effect on operations and approval at board meetings with independent directors present to establish transparency and independence on the transaction. The independent evaluation of the fairness of the transparent price ensures the protection of the right of shareholders.

The essence of corporate governance is transparency. The more transparent the internal workings of the Bank are, the more difficult it will be for Management and dominant stockholders to mismanage the Bank or misappropriate its assets.

It is therefore essential that all material information about the Bank which could adversely affect its viability or the interests of its stockholders and other stakeholders should be publicly and timely disclosed. Such information should include, among others, earnings results, acquisition or disposition of assets, off balance sheet transactions, related party transactions, and direct and indirect remuneration of members of the Board and Management.

The Board shall therefore commit at all times to full disclosure of material information dealings. It shall cause the filing of all required information through the appropriate Exchange mechanisms for listed companies and submissions to the Commission for the interest of its stockholders and other stakeholders.

The Bank shall adopt a globally recognized standard/framework in reporting sustainability and non- financial issues.

As external pressures including resource scarcity, globalization, and access to information continue to increase, the way corporations respond to sustainability challenges, in addition to financial challenges, determines their long-term viability and competitiveness. One way to respond to sustainability challenges is disclosure to all shareholders and other stakeholders of the Bank's strategic (long-term goals) and operational objectives (short-term goals), as well as the impact of a wide range of sustainability issues.

M. PROMOTING A COMPREHENSIVE AND COST-EFFICIENT ACCESS TO RELEVANT INFORMATION

The Bank should maintain a comprehensive and cost-efficient communication channel for disseminating relevant information. This channel is crucial for informed decision-making by investors, stakeholders and other interested users.

The Bank should include media and analysts' briefings as channels of communication to ensure the timely and accurate dissemination of public, material and relevant information to its shareholders and other investors. The manner of disseminating relevant information to its intended users is as important as the content of the information itself. Hence, it is essential for the Bank to have a strategic and well-organized channel for reporting. These communication channels can provide timely and up-to-date information relevant to investors' decision-making, as well as to other interested stakeholders.

N. STRENGTHENING THE INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEM AND ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT FRAMEWORK

To ensure the integrity, transparency and proper governance in the conduct of its affairs, the Bank shall have a strong and effective internal control system and enterprise-wide risk management framework.

1. The Bank shall have an adequate and effective internal control system and an enterprise risk management framework in the conduct of its business, taking into account its size, risk profile and complexity of operations.

An adequate and effective internal control system and an enterprise risk management framework help sustain safe and sound operations as well as implement management policies to attain corporate goals. An effective internal control system embodies management oversight and control culture; risk recognition and assessment; control activities; information and communication; monitoring activities and correcting deficiencies.
